ALTEN new owners of LARIX A/S

As a step in generational change LARIX A/S (and LARIX Sweden AB for Swedish clients) has been acquired by ALTEN Europe SARL with effect from 28th of June 2019.

LARIX will continue as an independent legal and organizational unit.

The current CEO, Klaus Juel Olsen, will continue as Managing Director.

ALTEN is an international engineering and technology company, founded in France. The subsidiary AIXIAL is a clinical CRO with more than 600 employees and is present in France (HQ in Paris), Czech Republic, Switzerland, Germany and Belgium. LARIX will collaborate with AIXIAL.

“I am happy to welcome LARIX to the ALTEN Group and am impressed by the people, company culture and the strong focus on customer success. LARIX is a very competent and committed company which will be an important part of ALTEN and AIXIAL’s future development in the Nordics. I look forward to working with the team.” says David Ljungström, Managing Vice president, ALTEN Group.

Klaus Juel Olsen, seller of LARIX A/S and new Managing Director, says, “It is a big pleasure for me that ALTEN has acquired LARIX. The ALTEN subsidiary AIXIAL has deep and diverse competences and a diversified client base. LARIX will become part of a very strong family of companies. This merger will give us the possibility to support our customers as a global force with a local presence.”

“LARIX will be very good complement to AIXIAL within ALTEN Group. AIXIAL is the leading CRO of ALTEN group in France and in the top 5 in Europe. LARIX will be the Nordic arm of AIXIAL and will strengthen our development within Life Science.” says Jean-Christophe Franoux, Managing Director of AIXIAL.
